We begin our tour of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World in Egypt. The oldest wonder and the only one still standing is the Great Pyramid of Khufu. Built in 2500 BC, it served as a tomb for the Pharaoh. This wonder is often thought of as a sandstone color, but for the first 3000 years of its existence, it was white. In 820 AD, the Arab Caliph Abdullah bin Khurra decided to search the pyramid for the fabled treasures of the Pharaoh, only to find the structure swept away the limestone. When it was built, the Great Pyramid was 145.75 m (481 ft) high, making it the tallest structure on Earth for more than 36 centuries, only to be surpassed in height in the nineteenth century AD.
